The Cold War was a period of geopolitical tension between the Soviet Union and the United States and their respective allies, the Eastern Bloc and the Western Bloc, after World War II. Historians do not fully agree on the dates, but the period is generally considered to span the 1947 Truman Doctrine to the 1991 dissolution of the Soviet Union. The term "cold" is used because there was no large ...

Truman was the first Cold War President. Concerned with the Soviet Union attempting to spread Communism he developed the policy that became known as Containment. He also created the Marshall Plan and NATO. He also oversaw the first conflict of the Cold War with Korean War that was fought to a stalemate and hasn't really ended to this day.

COLD WAR: SOVIET PERSPECTIVES

War breaks out in Tigray. The early days of the conflict were filled with confusion. Government forces were overwhelmed in some locations and thousands of troops taken prisoner, according to accounts from soldiers that trickled out. Radio communications were cut, and some Tigrayan soldiers serving in the military turned on their comrades, government and military officials said.
